MEET YOUR FRIENDS AT MARLEY AT THE JULY 4TH CELEBRATION

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Semmler:

My Conscience, and a certain sense of justice compels me to reply to the editorial which appeared in the June 16th issue of the News-Bulletin under the inflammatory caption, "A Racket?"

It is my studied opinion that a newspaper serves itself and its readers best by limiting itself to the investigation and publication of all of the pertinent facts of a controversy, leaving to the chronic street corner gossip the whole field of unfair comment and unfounded accusations. The facts concerning the so-called "racket" were investigated, or any of the principals interrogated, it is not evident from the article itself. I therefore submit that the publication of the article, with its open charge that the local police officer was engaging in an illegal and irregular pursuit, without some fair inquiry having been made beforehand, was thoughtless, uncharitable and untimely.

The illogic of the major premise of the article, that payment of taxes entitles a citizen to twenty-four hour watchman service, complete with checking of doors and windows, is obvious to the most casual reader and renders the article ludicrous on its face. Mokena does not have a full time police officer and if it did, he would not be required to give watchman service to the From Street taxpayers. The police officer in question was hired at a nominal rate of pay to patrol the streets for traffic violations a few hours each day. The rest of his time is his own, to engage in any pursuit he so desires. If he cares to offer his services as a watchman to the business people of the town, for a consideration there is no thing illegal or irregular in such a contract. Under the Illinois Statutes each member of the Village Board has the same

J. Edward Robinson of New Lenox suffered two fractures in his right leg last Friday when he was struck by an auto near the LaSalle street station in Chicago. TROOP 60 NEW LENOX

The week of July 3 to 9 will not be dull for the 14 Boy Scouts of this troop who will go to the Scout reservation near Morris.

Those who went last year have enthused the boys this year with their stories of boating, swimming, archery and the rifle range. Because the boys last year enjoyed their camp experience so much, even the KP duties do not dampen their hopes. The KP duty is taken care of by two different boys taking turns each day.

Buell Carlton Cole Takes Carol P. Anderson of Evanston For Bride

At an early summer wedding ceremony performed Saturday evening, June 18 at eight o'clock in the First Methodist church at Evanston, Miss Carol Phyllis Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin LeRoy Anderson of 1015 Sheridan Road, Evanston, became the bride of Buell Carlton Cole, son of Mayor and Mrs. Frank Carlton Cole, 128 Fir Street, New Lenox.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Kenneth Thompson, before an altar decorated with baskets of white peonies. Mr. Robert Swanson, soloist, sang "O Promise Me" and "Be-cause", accompanied by the church organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white slipper satin gown with a lace yolk, fashioned with an illusion neckline and long, tight fitted sleeves that came to points at the wrists. The bodice was tight fitting, with a full skirt that bore a long train. She wore an illusion net veil and a small lace cap. Her bouquet was of white gladioli centered with gardenias.

Miss Betty Anderson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a seafoam green tissue tulle gown with fitted bodice and full skirt, and cap sleeves. Her bouquet was red roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Beverly and Miss Catherine Westlake wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, in style and color.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the July 4th celebration, the 68th annual, at Marley, state all plans are completed for a day filled with activity.

The affair will be held in the Art Lauffer grove, 1 1/2 miles west of Wolf Road on 167th street.

A patriotic program is scheduled at 1:30 with Rev. Harold Finley, pastor of the Homer church as speaker. At 2:30 the annual ball game will take place.

You are invited to come in the morning, and if you do not want to go to the bother of packing your dinner, a good picnic lunch can be purchased. There will be other refreshments also.

During the afternoon games of skill races for young and old, contests and other sports will be conducted so that all may have a good time. And by no means least, will be the meeting of friends and visiting. Marley has the reputation of being a place on the Fourth where friends meet who have not seen each other for many a moon.

LAST RITES FOR GEORGE KNUDSON HELD MONDAY

George Knudson, 73, former highway commissioner of Frankfort, died Friday, June 24 in St. Francis hospital in Blue Island following several weeks' illness.

Mr. Knudson underwent several major operations a few years ago, but made a splendid recovery. He served as mail messenger for the Mokena post office for two years, resigning last December first because of ill health.

Born in Orland township November 16, 1875, the son of Charles and Mary Knudson, he lived on the home farm until he was 21. On May 17, 1900, he was united in marriage with Miss Rose Schiek. Together they farmed in Orland township until 1921 when he retired from that occupation and moved to Mokena. For a number of years he followed the carpenter trade, working with the late J. R. Bowen and also with Julius Oswald in the masonry work. He served as highway commissioner for several years.

He was removed to St. Francis hospital four weeks ago. Ten blood transfusions were given from which he seemed to improve for a while.

Surviving are his widow, Rose; two sons, Clyde of Stoughton, Wis., and Clifford of Blue Island; two grand children; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Liess of Montana and Mrs. Jane Kirby Chicago; two brothers, Fred of Mokena and Frank of Montana.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Mokena with Rev. George Knapp of Blue Island officiating. Burial was made in St. John's cemetery, Mokena.

Vivian Schellhase, James Lind To Be Married July 2

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Schellhase announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Vivian to Mr. James Lind, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lind, all of Frankfort.

The wedding will take place in the Frankfort Methodist church Saturday afternoon July 2 at four o'clock. Rev. Lloyd Coleman will officiate.

A wedding dinner will be served following the service. All relatives and friends are invited to the wedding and to the reception that evening in the Frankfort grove.

HALL'S AT THE FAIR

Col. and Mrs. Don C. Hall of Mokena are at the Railroad Fair this summer taking part in the old time exhibits. They are at the Gold Gulch and several other shows. They enjoy meeting all friends.

Their bouquets were also of red roses. Little Helen Gunderson, flower girl, was dressed like the bridesmaids and maid of honor.

Mr. Dale Anderson, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were John Way, cousin of the groom and Beston Abrams, a friend.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony, in Glenna hall at the church, with 200 friends and relatives attending. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with the wedding cake and flowers.

The bride's mother was gowned in a rose crepe dinner dress with lace yolk, and matching accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a silver grey crepe dinner dress with matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

Following a two week's wedding trip to Wisconsin the newlyweds will be at home in New Lenox with the bridegroom's parents for the summer. For traveling, the new Mrs. Cole was wearing a forest green gabardine suit with white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

The bride attended the University of Illinois, and the bridegroom having just completed his three years of pre-medical at Northwestern, will enter Northwestern Medical school in September.

Several pre-nuptial parties were given the bride in Chicago and Evanston.

THE FOURTH HAS TWO MEANINGS

The thousands of parades, firework displays, and thirteen-gun salutes have a double meaning on July 4th.

Most Americans recognize the Fourth as a celebration marking the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

But, according to the World Book Encyclopedia, the Fourth of July also commemorates the death of two great patriots—Thomas Jefferson, who wrote the Declaration, and John Adams, a staunch supporter and one of the signers.

Both these men died on July 4th, 1826.

10 Pupils Required By New School Law For State Aid

County Superintendent of Schools Louis F. Bottino has issued a statement to remind school directors that July 1 is the last day for them to terminate teacher's contracts in the event the Board of the district decides to transfer and transport pupils, according to article 24-1, of the school code.

Supt. Bottino is calling attention to this fact for the reason that after June 30, an elementary school must have an average attendance of at least 10 resident pupils in order to qualify for state aid.

Until this year the average daily attendance requirement was 7 pupils.

During the 1948-49 school term there were 29 elementary schools operating in Will County with an average daily attendance of fewer than 10 resident pupils. Under the new provisions of the law these districts will no longer qualify for state aid.

After June 30, 1951 the average daily attendance requirement for elementary schools will be 12 pupils and after June 30, 1953 at least 15 pupils.

Directors of low enrollments are reminded of a change in the requirements that, "If pupils are transported to school in another district, the school attended must have at least an average daily attendance of 10 resident pupils if both school districts are to qualify for state aid."

"Kid Irwin" and wife from the "Old West" to Arrive Here Saturday, July 2

CHIEF GERONIMO

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Irwin are motoring here, from their "Lazy J Ranch" near Douglas, Arizona, to join Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Janes of Frankfort and Mokena for an extended cruise on their yacht "The Lazy J." They will arrive here July 2. Mr. Irwin is a cousin of Mr. Janes, and the "Lazy J" brand runs in the family. Arriving in northern waters, the cruise will be based at the island home of Mr. and Mrs. Janes in the Bay of Finn.

Mr. Irwin is one of the few remaining deputies of the wild days of Tombstone and southern Arizona. He was a friend and associate of the famous John Slaughter, cattle king, and sheriff of Tombstone, whose guns and iron courage drove the outlaws, rustlers, and trigger happy killers out of Tombstone forever—at the special request of the then President of the United States, U. S. Grant.

Mr. Irwin is better known as "Kid Irwin," not because of any juvenile exploits as the name might imply, but three Irwin brothers, pioneers, who settled in Tombstone before even Boot-hill was dedicated as a handy burial ground. Kid Irwin did everything in the early days from punching cattle to working in the mines and on the railroads in the southwest, including a little bartending and Faro dealing as well. He has hunted, fished and prospected for gold and silver throughout the west and northern Old Mexico. For the past thirty-five years until his recent retirement, Mr. Irwin operated a

NEW FIELD HOUSE AT NEW LENOX CAMP GROUNDS

A new field house with toilet facilities for women is being built at the camp grounds at New Lenox. It is expected to have it completed today when the three weeks Institute of the Methodist churches opens there.

This field house will be on the east side of the grounds. Heretofore, there was one field house on the southwest side, taking care of both men and women. This will be a great improvement.

There was no water in the camp one day this week, due to a break in the pump, but authorities stated it was being repaired at once.

OETTER-CARROLL WEDDING JUNE 25

The St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church of Frankfort was the scene of the simple but impressive wedding of Betty Lou Oetter to Donald J. Carroll Saturday evening, June 25. Miss Oetter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad J. Oetter, 256 So. Center road and Mr. Carroll is the son of Mrs. Helen Dempsey, 302 Collins street, Joliet.

The candlelight, double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Erich Bizer. Bouquets of roses and ferns banked the altar. The candles were lit by Kenneth L. Oetter, brother of the bride, and Kenneth Geuther, cousin of the groom. Miss Marilyn Buchholz of Chicago sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg, and "With This Ring." During the ceremony, while the couple were kneeling at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, was sung by the maid of honor, Miss Faye Oetter. Miss Phyllis Hedstrom of Joliet was organist.

The bride, wearing a white marquisette gown over slipper satin made with a gathered drop shoulder of satin and illusion neckline, was given in marriage by her father. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice with a drapery skirt caught up at three places with pearlized orange blossoms revealing the rows of chantilly lace underneath. The chapel train was edged with matching lace. The long sleeves of the gown tapered to points at the wrists and were fastened with tiny covered buttons. Covered buttons were also arranged down the back of the gown. The bride's fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of shimmering net and orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible and a white orchid with white satin streamers.

Miss Faye June Oetter, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pale lavender gown of embroidered organza styled with a drop shoulder and illusion neckline, with short matching gloves, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations.

Miss Willa Oetter, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her gown was pale yellow, identical to that of the maid of honor. She carried a colonial bouquet of lavender carnations.

Serving as best man was Russell Carroll, brother of the bridegroom. Donald L. Oetter, brother of the bride, served as groomsmen.

A reception for 150 was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Miss Donna Oetter had charge of the guest book, Mrs. Kenneth Geuther, Mrs. Glenn Worning, Miss Janet Roberts and Miss Beverly Woods presided at the coffee urn and punch bowl. Miss Betty Jean Deist served the four-tiered wedding cake.

The bride's mother wore a pale grey dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Dempsey, mother of the bridegroom wore a beige dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Guests were present from Whiting, Ind., Chicago, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Joliet, Lockport, Elwood, Wilmington, New Lenox, Mokena, Wilton Center, Peotone, Tinley Park and, Chicago Heights.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in their home at 19 White street, Frankfort.

Miss Oetter graduated from the Joliet township high school and the Silver Cross hospital school of nursing, Joliet. She is a nurse at the St. James hospital in Chicago Heights. Mr. Carroll is also a graduate of J. T. H. S. and attended the University of Kansas. He is now employed at Wardway, Chicago Heights

AMERICAN LEGION AND FIRE DEPT., SPONSOR 1ST ANNUAL CARNIVAL AT BASEBALL PARK JULY 15 TO 17

The First Annual Carnival, sponsored by Post 526 of the American Legion Department of Illinois and the Orland Park Fire Department, will be a highlight in the summer activities of the Palos-Orland-Tinley Park region. Plans are to make the carnival the largest ever held in the southwest section of Cook County.

The dance, announced by the Mokena V.F.W. last week for July 30 at Frankfort grove was erroneously stated as being for the benefit of their building fund. Instead it is given to raise funds for instruments for the Mokena Drum and Bugle corps which a few weeks ago the V.F.W. decided to sponsor.

According to the commander, Eino Sarrela, the drum and bugle corps will fill a need in the community for parades and entertainment as well as giving the younger generation some constructive work to aid them in their general education.

The drum and bugle corps, it is said by V.F.W. officials is having its initial sponsorship by the organization and plans are that it will develop to be a community project, backed by all the civic organizations in the village. The V.F.W. intends to raise the money for the instruments, then the other civic organizations of the community take hold cooperatively to aid in instruction of the youngsters, obtaining music, etc. A meeting will be called soon to discuss this project in detail among the other civic organizations in Mokena.

The new building being erected by the V.F.W. on Wolf road is fast taking shape and plans are that the hall will be available to organizations in the village at a nominal rental. The new building has not as yet been set.

Let's all keep the date in mind—Saturday, July 30, and attend this dance, and show the V.F.W. that the community as a whole is really in back of the civic project of a drum and bugle corp.

Cannibal Snail May Save Garden Crops of Mariannas

A cannibal snail—a pigmy which attacks and devours alive other snails from 10 to 20 times its own size—may prove the salvation of the garden crops of the Mariannas, America's mandated islands in the Pacific.

Specimens of this little creature, about the size of a peanut, have been received by the Smithsonian institution from Dr. Francis X. Williams, who was sent to Africa by the National Research council to find natural enemies of the giant East African snail. This is one of the largest of land mollusks, about the size of a large rat, with one of the most voracious appetites of any living creature.

When the Japanese took over the Pacific islands under mandate after the first World war they introduced these creatures from Africa as a prospective food source. About the only persons who ate them, however, were the government administrators. The natives never developed an appetite for them.

The giant snails found themselves in an ideal environment. They multiplied so rapidly that they had become a serious pest when the navy took over the islands. Sometimes their slimy bodies covered roads so thickly that it was dangerous to drive a jeep at night. A host of them would clean up a garden in a single evening.

In their new home they had no natural enemies. In Africa, their native habitat, they never have proved a serious problem—largely because their numbers are kept down in the balance of nature, which has become established over thousands of centuries.

World's Supply of Pepper Grown in Confined Region

Columbus discovered America while searching for pepper and other spices. Today the United States of America is the world's greatest importer and consumer of the pepper Columbus never found.

The United States alone consumes about 35 million pounds of pepper a year. Although all the world's pepper is grown in a confined area in the Far East, the center of the trade is New York City, where the Pepper exchange has been located since 1937.

We rarely connect pepper with American history, yet it helped save the young United States from bankruptcy and started us on the road to sea power and international commerce. It all came about in the cloak and dagger tradition of the romantic novel. The handsome young Yankee skipper, Captain Johnathan Carnes of Salem, Mass., sailed his schooner Rajah to the Spice Islands in 1791 and found a way to pierce the tight blockade and bring back a cargo of pepper. Records show that by 1805 we were re-exporting more than 7,500,000 pounds of pepper a year.

In the Middle Ages pepper's preservative effect on foods made possible long caravan treks and the exploration of far-off places. Today pepper is just as important for its use in commercial food processing, and as the homemaker's essential tool in making bland foods more palatable.

Wandering Albatross

—The "Grand Old Man" among the bird specimens in the Louis Agassiz Fuertes bird collection at Cornell is celebrating his 100th anniversary. This oldest specimen is a male wandering albatross, the species made famous by Coleridge's poem, "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner." The original label is still tied around the legs of the bird and in a faded but easily legible handwriting, tells of the capture of the albatross on February 4, 1849 at S. Lat. 42°33' W. Long. 80°20'—about 500 miles off the coast of southern Chile. The label also describes the dissection of the specimen, stating that "the stomach resembled that of a carnivorous animal, there being no gizzard."

Spring Burning Injurious

The practice of burning over woods and fields is, in most instances, unwise. Research proves that spring burning does not improve pasture or hay land and it is a serious menace to timber production. Experiments with blue grass pastures have shown that burning in winter or spring results the following year in from 52 to 71 per cent decrease in grass production. Where burning is continued year after year, perennial grasses and other forage plants are replaced by annual weeds nearly worthless for pasture.

Minnesota's Death Rate

The lowest death rate in Minnesota's history was recorded in 1948. Based on reports received up to February 1, 1949, the death rate for the preceding year was between 9.4 and 9.5 per 100,000 population. Not since 1921, the last record year, has the death rate been so low as 9.5. In 1947 it was 9.8. Deaths reported from all causes during 1948 numbered 27,689. Births reported for the same period totaled 72,500. The all-time high was 75,469 births in 1947.

Washington News

From Congressman N. M. MASON
POLITICIAN SHENANIGANS WITH THE AMERICAN FARMERS—Secretary Brannan's recent announcement that under authority of the C.C.C. Act he would make loans to farmers up to 75 per cent of support prices on wheat stored on the ground makes one wonder why he did not take such action last year at this time. He had full authority to make loans of this kind last year but did not do so. Mr. Brannan steadfastly refused then to make grain loans unless "proper storage facilities were provided." He refused to loan one dollar on wheat stored on the ground. This caused wheat producers to lose at least $100,000,000 on their crops. Today with the same legal authority that he had last year he announces a large loan on wheat stored on the ground. The President during the campaign blamed the Republicans for lack of grain storage facilities and for the slump in grain prices.

As a result of Secretary Brannan's recent loan announcement the price of wheat immediately advanced as much as nine cents per bushel. This change in policy was no accident. It demonstrates to the farmers of the Nation that the Administration has the power to raise or lower the price of grain at will, simply by using or refusing to use the authority it has under the C.C.C. Act and other Acts of similar nature. Can it be that the Truman Administration is deliberately playing politics with the welfare of the six million farmers of the Nation, using them as pawns in the political New Deal game?

LITTLE MEN PLAYING WITH BIG IDEAS—President Truman's economic advisors, Leon Kyserling et al, have reversed themselves. A few weeks ago they were asking for Presidential authority to reimpose price controls in order to head off INFLATION. Now they are urging a stabilization bill, "The Economic Expansion Act of 1949," in order to head off DEFLATION. The new stabilization bill is to stabilize employment at its present level.

Like all master plans designed to prevent the ups and downs of a free economy, this one would give vast discretionary powers to the President, which really means giving these powers to his economic advisors who would coach him in what moves to make.

If the proposed stabilization bill became a law, it would cost between five and eight billion dollars per year, and it would:—

(a) Guarantee bank loans made to private employers who need funds to prevent layoffs and wage cuts.

(b) Seek to establish "a satisfactory balance between wages and profits"—something that has never yet been accomplished.

(c) Finance public works which private capital rejects as too risky.

(d) Provide make-work projects to head off unemployment.

(e) Guarantee job security to all workers, thereby relieving all workers of any personal responsibility—at the price of freedom.

This is the program President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers now propose in order to head off the depression they foresee in the near future. It means a complete right-about-face from the position they took only a few short months ago when they forecast "Ruinous Inflation." Judging from Leon Kyserling's first forecast of the economic weather for 1949, do we want to follow such an unstable prophet in his right-about-face?

TWENTY-EIGHT BUCKS FROM EACH FAMILY—Every billion dollars given away takes $28.00 out of every family budget in America. The Census Bureau tells us there are 140,000,000 people in the United States. Counting 4 members to the family, this makes 560,000,000 families. One billion dollars given away means one billion dollars extra taxes for American taxpayers—$28.00 for every family, or $7.00 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

The federal budget for next year has in it 7 billion dollars for the Marshall Plan plus other International Relief Programs—these 7 billion dollars to be given away. This will take from each family budget in America an average of $196.00. The average American family could buy quite a lot of groceries for that sum.

Economic Highlights

Taken from the Industrial News Review

Sentiment in Congress in favor of cutting the cost of the Federal government is growing fast. Many things have contributed to it—among them, the decline in business and employment, the fact that a heavy Federal deficit now seems inevitable, and the reluctance of the lawmakers to increase taxes, because complaints from the "folks back home about Federal spending" are increasing.

However, sentiment in favor of cuts in spending, and practical action toward that end, are two different things. Congress is always bedeviled by pressure groups, all of whom are in favor of cutting the appropriations that go to someone else and increasing their own. As an obvious example, there is hardly a chamber of commerce that doesn't pay lip service to the cause of economy—and then whoop it up whenever it sees a chance to get a slice of Federal tax money for its own area.

In the long run, the decisive factor will be public sentiment—the wishes of the voters as to fiscal policy. A short time ago the Omaha World-Herald carried on an interesting experiment. It published a full account of a speech made by Senator Byrd, in which he described various spending measures now before Congress, and pointed out that the billions they would cost have to be paid by all the people. The World-Herald then published a ballot on which its readers could express their views on the matter.

The first question asked for opinion on a straight 10 per cent cut in all Federal expenditures that can be cut. Only 134 who answered were against this, while 5,869 were for it. The balance of the questions covered specific legislative measures such as Federal housing, Federal aid to education, the national health plan, arms to Europe under the North Atlantic Pact, etc. In every instance the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of strict economy. On the health plan, for instance, 5,828 expressed themselves as being against it and 99 for. On increased payroll and income taxes, 5,876 said no while a mere 96 approved them.

In conducting its poll, the paper emphasized the certain but often-overlooked fact that "the Federal government hasn't a cent except what it takes from all of us in taxes." It is true that some polls indicate that a substantial majority of the people want Federal hand outs. However, such polls are usually so worded as to make the unwary believe that they will get them for nothing—that the money will come from some mysterious source other than the people's pockets.

The Hoover Commission reports have given Congress what it long lacked—a detailed blueprint for eliminating waste, duplication, overlapping. Now it remains to be seen whether the people will demand its acceptance.

The large farms in the U.S., measured by the value of production, are concentrated in the Corn Belt.

Senate to Move

FOR THE FIRST TIME in 135 years the senate of the United States, according to present plans, will hold its sessions outside the Capitol building if and when it moves lock, stock and barrel, into the swanky, marble-walled, air-conditioned senate caucus chamber in the senate office building about June 30.

The occasion of this historic trek across the Capitol grounds is made necessary by the reconstruction of the roofs and the removal of the unsightly temporary steel girders and framework in both the house and senate chambers.

This temporary construction was placed there as a safety measure when the roofs of the two wings threatened to collapse back in 1939 and 1940.

During that construction period, the house did move out of the building and held its sessions in the ways and means chamber in the house office building, but the senate remained in the Capitol, holding its sessions in the old supreme court chamber which was vacated by that judicial body in 1935 upon the completion of the new supreme court building.

The present house chamber wing of the Capitol was completed and occupied by the lower body on December 16, 1857, while the senate chamber was completed two years later and occupied for the first time by the senate on January 4, 1859.

The only other occasion when the congress held its sessions outside the Capitol building was after the burning of the original Capitol by the British on August 24, 1814. From that time, until the new Capitol building was ready for occupancy in 1819, Congress met in what was then Blodgett's hotel at Seventh and E streets and later in a building erected to house them on a portion of the site now occupied by the new supreme court building.

In the meantime the beautiful grounds immediately adjacent to the Capitol on both the house and senate sides resemble a construction camp with high board walls surrounding temporary buildings and quarters for workers.

Tardy Budgets

During the 80th Republican-controlled congress, Democratic leaders belabored their Republican colleagues for failure to comply with the congressional reorganization act in setting up a legislative budget by February 15, required by the law. And today Democratic leaders are smarting under Republican attacks for failure to do the same thing. As a matter of fact, when the time set for agreeing on a legislative budget passed, the senate extended the time to May 1. That date has come and gone and as yet there has been no budget fixed, nor is there likely to be one set.

Ways of Debate

All sorts of extraneous matters creep into debates over appropriation bills. In the floor debate on the post office appropriation measure in the senate the two South Carolina senators, Maybank and Johnston, wanted to include some $170,000 worth of cotton twine, and the battle went on for some hours and many pages in the Congressional Record.

"Senator Maybank—Is it not a fact that the United States government took over the poor cotton farmer and sold it at a profit of $90,000,000?"

"Senator Taft (Ohio)—Mr. President, if the senator will yield I will say that the government never got the $90,000,000. That was only the figure at which it was sold to foreign countries who never paid for it. That was the net result of lend lease."

"Mr. Maybank—But the senator will agree as to the figure; will he not?"

"Mr. Taft—Yes; but we got no money for it. We merely got in return credits that we canceled. That is all we got for it."

"Mr. Baldwin (Connecticut)—It was a paper profit of the most paperish sort, was it not?"

"Mr. Taft—That is correct." So the department of agriculture claim of a 90-million-dollar profit by the CCC on price support for cotton is knocked into a cocked hat.

No School Curls

In passage of the federal aid to schools legislation by the senate, that body decided two fundamental questions which have been moot ones for the past 30 years: (1) that illiteracy is a national problem and (2) that federal appropriations for schools does not necessarily mean federal control of schools.

It has been proved definitely that federal aid to education should not be regarded as a levy against the people, but as an investment that will yield large returns.

Sylvester Says:

"100 years is a long time to wait for a house, but by building 500,000 public housing units per year it would take the government 100 years to place every 'low-income' American family in government public housing."

The average earnings of families now living in public "subsidized" housing is $2,200. There are approximately 20 million American families with incomes no higher than that.

On the basis of $2,200 a year income, more than half the families in the U. S. qualify for a home in a government housing unit.

But most American families haven't learned how helpless they are, for, according to U. S. Census figures, over one-half of our families with incomes below $1,000 per year already own their own homes.

TRAGEDY!

The tremendous damage done to America's range land by fire is a tragedy that affects EVERYONE. Look ...

Each year range fires destroy millions of acres of land bearing essential grain and livestock feed!

They kill thousands of cows, horses, sheep, and an inestimable amount of wildlife!

They burn homes, farms, farm equipment—sometimes entire communities!

And, yes, range fires even take a toll of human lives!

Range fires bring destruction and shortages which contribute to higher prices that no one can escape! And the sad truth is that 9 out of 10 of these fires are caused by people like YOU and your neighbor.

RANGE FIRES CAN BE PREVENTED IF YOU WILL FOLLOW—FAITHFULLY—THESE FOUR SIMPLE RULES

1. Hold your match 'til it's cold—then pinch it to make sure.
2. Crush out your cigarette, cigar, pipe ashes. Use on ash tray!
3. Drown your campfire, then stir and drown again.
4. Ask about the law before burning grass, brush, fence rows, or trash.

"Listen, I don't joke about the budget."

"You really mean it costs only 8c a day to operate an automatic GAS water heater?"

"That's right! We have all the hot water we want every day whenever we want it... and it costs less than half a pack of cigarettes."

"Brother, that's really worth knowing. We're always running out of hot water at our house... and Marge says she never gets through the laundry without stopping to wait for more hot water."

"We used to have that trouble, too. But not any more. And Jim, the best part about an automatic GAS water heater is you never have to go near it after it's installed. No more early morning trips to the basement for me."

"Oh, don't remind me of my troubles. It seems I spend half my evenings coaxing our water heater so there'll be enough for baths."

"Why don't you look into automatic GAS water heating? I wish we'd had ours years ago!"

"Believe me, I'm going to! Who do I see?"

"Oh, your master plumber, appliance dealer, or nearest Public Service store. Any of them can help you."

Check on this today. See your master plumber, appliance dealer, or nearest Public Service store.

Songs for All Hearts

Lesson for July 3, 1949

THE greatest hymn-book in the world is to be our study for three months. Not the oldest; that honor belongs to the Vedic Hymns of ancient India.

Not the largest; the hymnal of your own church may easily be twice as large. But the greatest hymn-book in the world is the book of Psalms. This collection of religious poems was used as the hymn-book of the temple which was built when the Jewish exiles returned to Babylon. It was the hymn-book of Herod's temple, and we know our Lord used and loved it. It is indeed the song-book of the Bible. It was the only hymnal which the first Christians used, for some time. Indeed the book of Psalms is probably the only hymn-book honored and used by three separate religions—Judaism, Mohammedanism and Christianity.

How It Grew

LIKE all hymnals, this book of Psalms grew by degrees. It was not written all at one time or by one person. David wrote some of the Psalms, how many we do not know. The "titles" of the Psalms were added by later Hebrew editors, are no part of the original Psalms, and are often inaccurate.

It is very likely that as much as a thousand years went by between the first of the Psalms to be written, and the last. Every modern hymnal that is any good is in part a collection of the best of the old hymnals.

So our book of Psalms, as it finally took shape, came from older collections: A glance through it in the American standard version will show that in its present form it is made up of five smaller books, ending with Psalms 41, 72, 89, 106 and 150. Each book ends with a doxology and book V ends with a magnificent series of them. Sometimes the editors left in duplicates. Reading Psalm 14 side by side with Psalm 53 will show that these two are exactly the same, only using different names for God. At least one of the Psalms is made up of "clippings" from earlier Psalms: thus Psalm 108 is made up from Psalm 57:7-11 and Psalm 60:5-12. The Psalms were cherished and preserved generation after generation because of their heart-appeal. Our Psalm book has gone through centuries of sifting; many were dropped out and forgotten, but the best were saved and sung; and what we have is the cream of the best of the singers of Israel.

Mirror of Man

JOHN CALVIN called the Psalms the "mirror of the soul." All the varied moods of man—hope, despair, triumph, envy, doubt, aspiration, loneliness, hatred, fear, irritation, patriotism, joy, bitterness, weariness, amazement, anguish, rapture—almost every emotion that can be felt toward God or man breathes somewhere or other in these Psalms.

Since not one of the authors of the Psalms was a Christian, of course, we should not be surprised to find, here and there, expressions (for example) of hatred which are out of harmony with the spirit and teaching of Jesus. The wonder is that there is so little of that kind of thing.

For every Psalm in which the poet says something cruel or hateful (e. g. Psalm 137:9 or 109:6-14), there are scores that breathe a spirit of gentleness and grace. For every note of despair (Psalm 88 is the only completely gloomy one in the whole collection), there are many hallelujahs of hope and gladness.

Message of God

IF the Psalms are so human, how can they be also God's Word? Yet they are also, truly, a message of God. For they not only cast a divine light on the state of man's heart, but they show what the life of man is when God becomes real. For God was real to each poet who contributed to this great book. In latter weeks this summer we shall be looking at the Psalms from various special angles. This week it will be helpful to sit quietly with the three typical Psalms, 1, 67 and 100, and as you ponder over each one in turn, ask yourself: What does this show me about God? What does this show about life when it turns to God?

New Flavor Products

Some of the newer flavoring products on the market will put new taste-value into everyday food—as an experimental foods class found out in the home economics department of the University of Illinois.

One seasoning that improves the flavor of vegetables and soups, these students found, is the substance known as technically mono-sodium-glutamate. It is in a crystalline form and is sold under commercial names. By itself it is primarily a salty and sweet flavor.

Mrs. Pearl Jansen, who teaches the class, reports that the students particularly liked this substance for seasoning soups, gravies, and vegetables. Mrs. Jansen is on the staff of the home economics department.

Liquid herbs were also tried and tasted in various combinations. One combination that was generally liked was liquid mint in fruit juices. Liquid tarragon, rosemary, garlic, thyme, and marjoram were also tried. Students found that these increased the flavorfulness of such things as tomato juice, soups, and gravies.

Spring Relish Plate is Colorful, Tasty

A tempting relish plate of orange carrot sticks, green celery curls and cabbage wedges should be featured in many of your meals these days. Food specialists at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture point out that all of these vegetables are plentiful. And you will find them delightfully crisp for crunching at mealtime.

FRANKSTER INSTRUMENT BAN ASKED BY LEGION

The 12-man commission asked for the ban to become effective before the 31st national convention of The American Legion there, August 29 to September 1.

Growers of Ladino clover seed in the U.S. produced 59 per cent more seed in 1948 than in 1949. Production for 1948 was 1,460,000 pounds.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

CHURCH GAMBLING HIT BY LUTHERAN LEADER

After trying oyster suppers, strawberry festival, a donkey party, box socials and a lawn fete to raise money a congregation once went to Editor Horace Greeley for advice about what to try to keep the struggling church from disbanding.

Greeley's reply: "Try religion."
But since the 1800's, church financing has often taken on more, not less, of the aspects of a carnival. Few churchmen had strongly criticized a system which produced badly needed dollars, says Pathfinder news magazine.

Last fortnight, however, a Lutheran clergyman separated need from cause to condemn "unscriptural giving."

Gambling Isn't Giving
Writing in the monthly bulletin of the United Lutheran Church's Stewardship office, Stewardship Secretary, Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton described fund-raising efforts of the Bingo-game variety as "...not giving at all. They are selling, commerce, business even gambling, but not giving."

Often the business is shabby and shoddy, asking 50c for 25c articles and using unsavory practices that the world has for the most part discarded. Sometimes the methods violate good taste, good morals, and the law of the community, as when gambling is the device. Never are they Christian religion."

Two members of the toad family of central and southwestern Europe are called obstetrical, or midwife, toads because the male helps bear the young. According to The World Encyclopedia the male toad carries the eggs like a bunch of grapes attached to its back.

The saying that a "woman's work is never done" is a reality in Micronesia, an island in the Pacific. Every man in the family must have his food cooked in a separate pot over a separate fire, if he is to keep his social standing, says The World Book Encyclopedia.

THE GARBLE GIRLS...

"Do you think they'll pin anything on Mickey Rooney for losing that bottle of uranium in that fight with Scott Lucas over American aid to the Taft-Hartley act?"

"It's an even bet. Mickey had no business giving that jug to Mrs. Whittaker in the first place, even for the honorary degree. By the way, what do you think of Margaret's Vickers marrying the Ago Lillenthal?"

"You mean the Aly Acheson, don't you?"

"Oh yeah. I read so many papers so fast. I can understand it in the Aly's case because he is a Moslem but she is suppose to be a strict vegetarian and there is no evidence that when she got on that bus with the top secret documents he got on at the same time, anyhow."

"I don't see why Martha Brien got so excited about it."

"She didn't think either of 'em should have fled the country as stowaways."

"Did you read where Judy Hickenlooper admits having kept all those Columbia library books?"
"Yeah, but they'll never convict Hickenlooper of anything, even in an extra session. It was a mistake to give either of them free scholarships."

"I get awful depressed the way things are going. Truman is too late to save Hong Kong. I'm afraid, even with Stan Musial and Johnny Mize offering to do it with 230 planes. Bob Porterfield and Harry Brecheen ain't doing so well with that Atlantic pact, either."

"What's the Atlantic pact?"
"It's the one to keep anybody on our side jumping to the Mexican league without a passport and loyalty test."

"Do you think the country's facing a big slump?"

"You never can tell so early in the season. The standing on Fourth of July is what counts. I think congress should vote for economy like ex-president Olympia recommended in the Capot report to General Symington."

"How are things going over there with the Big Six in Paris?"

"Ernie Durocher is causing trouble and they're still cross-examining Lee Shubert, but I think everybody will get pensions at the age of 45 before they get through, unless Vishinsky gets back into the lineup."

"What's the matter with him?"
"He's got a spur in his left heel."

"What're you doin' for fun these days?"

"Oh. I go to the races and baseball and the movies. I loved Spencer Tracy in The Peter Pan Handicap. And that pennant race between the Dodgers and Potsdam was a thriller. I thought for a time that Old Rockport would win."

Mary Margaret at Stadium

The Yankee stadium was hired the other day for an anniversary party thrown for Mary Margaret McBride, famous radio star. More than 42,000 people attended. That's more than half the rival Yankee baseball clubs draw.

It was a sensational affair and Miss McBride scored standing up. It wasn't necessary for her to slide, although it would have pleased the fans no end.

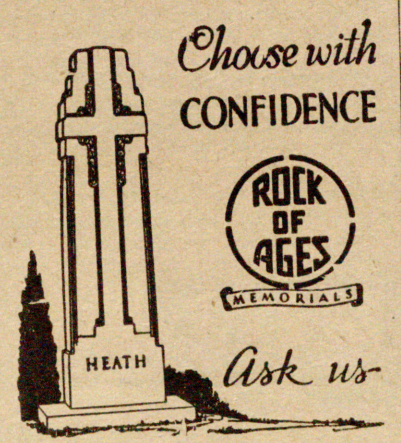

And if she had to slide she could have done it. Mary (Happy) McBride has the baseball spirit. She can hit and field. No position is beyond her. If you take note of the countless commercials the lady has delivered for dinner-table edibles you have to admit nobody has been more versatile "behind the plate" over so long a period.

Mary is in her way a pitcher, too. She has never had to be yanked off the mound in her career with the NBC club. Her greatest asset is her control. There is almost no wind up in her delivery. Smoothness marks her style.

The lady is a good all-around player, too. Shortstop taxes her, but every other position is duck-soup—and she will name the brand of duck soup and tell you where to get it.

Mary has a "chuckle ball," also, that is the talk of the league and her "nonchalant curve" is a wonder. She can fan 'em all with either.

We never have known her to blow her top. Rattling her is impossible. She is calm, well poised and cool in every move and cannot be hurried. Her best ball is a sort of "floater," she throws it with effortless rhythm, as if she were merely blowing bubbles. It comes in smoothly and always cuts the plate.

HOMER

Elizabeth B. Anderson, Lockport, R. 1
Telephone Lockport 886-M

There will be no meeting of the Wayside Workers Circle of King's Daughters in July. The August meeting will probably be in the home of Mrs. Erwin Lynk on Maple Road.

Fourteen members and one visitor attended the Homer-Lockport Home Bureau meeting in the Robert Burch home on Wednesday, June 22. A delicious desert-coffee was served at 1:30, after which the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. William Roberts. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Michael Roberts served. Plans for a bakery sale were discussed after the routine business.

The major lesson on Color in Dress was given by the assistant county Home Adviser, Mrs. Jean Anne O'Dell; the topic proved to be very interesting and instructive.

The Rev. and Mrs. Arthur J. Hoffman of Joliet were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carlson. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wessenberg and family spent last week end at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Mrs. Raymond Hank of Joliet, but a well known former Homer resident, is a medical patient at St. Joseph's hospital.

Miss Marlene Wirth, who spent the past school year with relatives in Florida, returned to her parent's home here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reed and the Louis Habenicht family ate picnic dinner with the Elwyn Reeds at their new home on Route 66 Sunday.

The quarterly Communion service will be held at Homer church Sunday, July 3. There will also be a reception of new members.

The radio program sponsored by the Will County Home Bureau, will be in charge of Mrs. Verna Wilker, radio chairman of the Homer-Lockport unit who will talk on PTA work. This will be at 11:15, Tuesday, July 12 over WJOL.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loucks are enjoying an extended motor trip through the western states; they will attend the wedding of Mr. Louck's niece, Miss Dorothy Loucks in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carlson went to Chicago Saturday evening to attend the wedding of his cousin Leroy Carlson of Joliet to Miss Fern Rosemary Egelund of Chicago. The marriage took place in the First Lutheran church with a reception following at the Irving Park YMCA.

James Coleman Sr. of Chicago spent the week end with his son James here. Mrs. F. J. Paddock spent several days last week visiting her sister, Mrs. G. L. Reed in Chicago.

Miss Rita Rodgers and Phyllis Lane were recently awarded Jun- or certificates in music at the Joliet conservatory.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker are the happy parents of a daughter born Tuesday, June 21 in Silver Cross hospital. She has been named Althea Faye.

Mrs. Mary Meyers accompanied the Clarence Rowley family of Plainfield to Elgin last Sunday where they ate dinner at Wing Park.

Mrs. Emma West injured her back and hip when she fell at her home recently. She is under the doctor's care.

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

In August a good many dairymen will be crying—not over spilled milk—but over their dried-up pastures... and the old bogey of a dip in midsummer milk production. This expected August shortage can be prevented by seeding pasture in Sudan grass today, as thousands of Mid-Western farmers already know.

Dairymen who have used Sudan grass as supplementary pasture have found that it almost always increases milk flow over that of pasture previously used, and that it keeps the milk production line up. The use of Sudan grass is especially recommended this year because so many farmers lost a good stand of alfalfa or clover in last summer's drought or through winter killing.

Sudan grass is easy to grow, seeding costs are reasonable and no extra farm equipment is needed for the job. The seed bed is prepared like that for corn in early spring-plowed land. Use the wheat side of the grain drill, and drill the seed at a rate of 25 to 30 pounds an acre, setting the drill on the wheat scale at two and a half to three pecks per acre.

Sudan grass is a sorghum—a warm weather crop, and should be planted after the latter part of May.

The crop should be ready for grazing in five or six weeks, but not before it reaches a height of 14 inches. The application of 200 to 300 pounds of 0-20-10 or 0-20-20 fertilizer at seeding time will hasten growth and increase quality of the crop. An acre of Sudan grass will carry one or more cows per acre, and the carrying capacity can be increased if alternated with other pasture.

It's a good bet you can bury that August milk slump in a field of Sudan grass.

power to arrest that a police officer has, and is therefore a police officer. Does the News-Bulletin contend that by becoming a member of the board, and a police officer, one is disqualified to sell his services to any business man in town because he might thereby be influenced to refrain from prosecuting said business man from violations of the law? Need it be said that such a conclusion would be ridiculous? So long as the officer in question fulfills his contract with the village he can hire himself out to any one business man or to all of them as a watchman, as a clerk, or as a newsboy, and no meeting of the Village Board is necessary to make the contract legal. If this violates your keen sense of propriety perhaps the News-Bulletin desires to advocate the increasing of taxes that would be necessary to obtain the exclusive services of a full time policeman?

The officer contacted twenty-two business establishments and seventeen of them engaged him and signed a contract and paid their money in advance. They have not requested the return of same since the publication of your article, but on the other hand are happy to have the service and in some instances have received beneficial results therefrom. Your article was and insult to the intelligence of these people who are able to decide for themselves whether or not that they allowed themselves to be "taken" is something less than charitable. The informed business person is cognizant of the fact that the rendering of such a watchman service is the common and usual thing even in the City of Chicago where it is rendered by corporations with trained men whose service is purchased on a large scale despite the fact that hoards of high salaried policemen, whose exclusive services are paid for by the taxpayers of Chicago, constantly patrol the streets. Further, the News-Bulletin has been paying taxes in Mokena as far back as the memory of man runneth not, and has never received fulltime police protection in return for its taxes. Is it not a little late to complain after all these years?

The article, coming as it does, so near being defamatory, tends to bring into dispute the part time police officer, the President of the Village Board and the Board members who approved of the project, and to that extent hinders their efforts to combat the little crime wave that has reared its ugly head. Housebreaking in Mokena was an unusual thing but is becoming common. Your editorial appeared next to a news item describing a Sunday morning housebreaking while a victim was at church. Would not the News-Bulletin serve a nobler purpose by helping to maintain the prestige of the Village Board and their part time police officer, and by cooperating with the business people who desire protection of their person and property, rather than by surrendering its facilities to the uninformed and disgruntled few, who would be satisfied only with Chicago police protection on Mokena taxes?

I repeat that the solicitation of contracts with the business establishments for the watchman service by the police officer in question is neither irregular, illegal, or morally wrong. However, having learned long since that it is a sign of intellectual weakness to set ones self up as the sole and unimpeachable judge of the right and the wrong of other men's affairs, I have sought out authority other than my own for the above opinion. The question was thoroughly discussed with the General Counsel for the Illinois Municipal League, of which Mokena is a member, and my conclusions as to the propriety, regularity and legality of the so called "Racket" has been confirmed by him without reservation. Do you not agree that your readers should be so informed?

THOMAS P. POWERS
Taxpayer

EDITORS NOTE: We agree that the fact that solicitation among business men may be perfectly legal and above board, but it was the method that we and other business men objected to. When a man comes into a place of business and tells you that "you are the only one not signed up," and you inquire from many other business men and find that they had the same statement given them, it doesn't seem to us that that is a fair way to set up a proposition of any kind.

The village of Mokena is growing steadily and Frankfort, for instance, a smaller village than ours has a full time policeman and he has authority to deputize anyone for aid in an emergency. Frankfort's tax rate for 1948 was 1.875 with a particularly high tax on their school district which is .974. Mokena's tax is somewhat lower on the school district tax or .731 and the total tax rate of Mokena is 1.535. Excluding the school district tax Frankfort citizens pay very little more in taxes than Mokena and have full time police protection. Is it not possible that Mokena could have this same protection for a negligible increase in taxes?

A newspaper's job is to keep the citizens of a community informed as to what's going on in the town. And especially the voters of a community are entitled to know what the folks whom they elected are doing, as they are their representatives.

We have no argument with the village board. In fact we have no argument with anyone and our columns are open to the people to express their opinions as they were to you, Mr. Powers. This is a grand country, and we all have free speech and the right to express our opinions and leave it to the general public to judge. The mere fact that a newspaper comments editorially on a subject does not mean that it is acting as "sole and unimpeachable judge of the right and wrong of other men's affairs." We are merely presenting the case to the public for their judgment.

"KID ERWIN"—

large commercial and portrait photographic business in Douglas, Arizona. He is one of the best known photographers in Arizona. He is now living quietly, more or less, on his Lazy J Ranch near Douglas.

Mrs. Irwin, then Helen Smith, acted as business manager, secretary and companion to Mrs. Slaughter after the death of John Slaughter and until Mrs. Slaughter passed on some years ago. The huge Slaughter ranch, at this time, extended from Arizona on down into Sonora, Mexico and was occasionally raided by Mexican bandits. Mrs. Irwin later married Marvin Irwin, no doubt influenced by Mrs. Slaughter's glowing description of the man's qualities.

Like all men from the old west, Mr. Irwin is reticent about his many thrilling experiences. The only incident which he has ever readily described happened in the wild days of the great Comstock Lode in the roaring mining camp of Goldfield, Nevada. A notorious bad man with an imagined grudge against the kid sent word by messenger that their next meeting would be for keeps. This meant that the man who drew "fustest and fastest" would survive.

Mr. Irwin, peaceful hombre that he was nevertheless realized that sooner or later the issue would have to be decided. Therefore, a little six gun practice was imperative. Walking up Nugget Canyon looking for targets, he suddenly spied a dove flying fast and high. With only one of his guns, Kid Irwin met this challenge with a lightning draw and to his amazement the dove fell dead almost at his boots.

This feat, unknown to the Kid was witnessed by two of Goldfield's toughest characters who were prospecting up the gulch. Their description of this kind of deadly shooting, back at the Great Northern Saloon a few hours later, spread like wildfire and the word was quickly passed around that "The Kid" was not a man to trifle with. As a result the tough gunman not only left Irwin alone, but left town as well, leaving Irwin supreme with practically the keys to the camp. Sometime later when Goldfield began to fade, "The Kid" elected to return to his former haunts around Tombstone and the Border.

Mr. Irwin hopes that aboard his yacht "The Lazy J," in the middle of Lake Michigan, with no horse or six gun available he can induce Mr. Irwin to relate more of his exploits in the lurid days of the old west.

In their odd moments away from mining and ranching, the three Irwin brothers became probably the most famous photographers of early times in the Southwest. One of their notable pictures, here published with this article, is Geronimo, the blood thirsty and infamous Apache Chief whose warriors terrorized Arizona, New Mexico, Sonora, Mexico for years. This is the only picture of Geronimo ever made showing the vicious old chief in full war dress and armed. Years later in World War II, the terrifying cry of "Geronimo!" from the throats of thousands of American Paratroopers as they hit the ground and charge enemy positions became a symbol of ferocity and courage in battle.

gram under the Army in western Europe. In 1946 he returned to the United States and enrolled in the Advanced School at Teachers college, Columbia university, in New York City. He spent three years in advanced study there and was awarded the degree of Doctor of Education.

How the whole community can work together to develop the minds and characters of American children and youth was the subject of Mr. Henry's doctoral study. This study involved an analysis of the meaning of the separation of church and state and the implications of this principle for public education in typical American communities. His doctoral dissertation will be published as a book by the publishers Harper and Brothers, New York, within the next few months.

Mr. Henry states that his special interest in education is to help people in small towns and rural areas to develop superior educational systems. He emphasizes his belief that the education of children goes on all the time wherever they are—at home, at school, at church, at the movie, at the beach, in summer camp etc. Therefore, a really fine educational program in any community requires that all the people work together to provide the best possible kind of environment for the young both inside the school and elsewhere.

Mrs. Henry is also a college graduate with a major in early childhood education. Mr. Henry states that during his three years of graduate study in New York City Mrs. Henry "made the living" by teaching and serving as educational director in a private kindergarten there. She also took several courses at night and on Saturdays at Teachers college, Columbia University.

Semmler Newspapers Represented at Fight

Raymond Westlund of Mokena and cousin Robert Oestreich of Joliet represented the Semmler Newspapers at the Charles-Walcott fight at Comiskey park last Thursday evening.

There were 30,000 spectators present with 409 working newspaper men from 203 journals in this country and Europe.

We all know by this time that Ezzard Charles won the fight on points 76 to 72. This paper's representatives, were, like everyone else, disappointed by the lack of brisk action. They felt there was too much sparring. The crowd called for action most of the time.

The tax was 33 percent on each ticket: the government tax 20 percent, and the state 10, the city three.

A successful feeding program requires a knowledge of the feed as well as the nutrition of the animal to be fed.

In England in 1534, because a large number of sheep had come into a few person's hands, a penalty was imposed on all who kept more than 2,000 sheep.
